

After brain surgery, am I still going to be able to function normally?

Yes. After brain surgery the thinking of most patients does not change considerably. In the few cases when there is any risk of such damage, we definitely draw the attention of the patient to this possibility.